

WHEN THE BORDER VANISHES

Historian Bingo: Yellow Fever and the Panama Canal

Directions:

Look at the questions in the boxes. Put the answer in the box. Don't know the answer? Ask someone else! Now, if someone needs an answer, you be the historian and share your information!

| | | | | |
|--|---|--|---|---|
| Prior to 1903, Panama was a province of this country. | At this time, this individual is President of the United States | Name two diseases that humans were susceptible to while building the canal | This word means "enforced isolation of patients suffering from a contagious disease in order to prevent the spread of disease." | This individual was the Secretary of State during this time period. |
| This disease eventually forced its victim to vomit black blood. | In 1850, both of these countries proposed building a canal. | This amount was paid to Panama for the land on which the canal was built. | This is the width (in miles) of the land purchased for the Panama Canal. | The canal connects these two bodies of water. |
| Prior to the building of the canal, ships were forced to sail around this Cape. | The building of the canal decreased the length of the journey by this number of miles. | This President returned control of the canal to Panama in 2000. | This is the year that the canal was completed. | America emerged as a Great Power after this particular war. |
| This doctor was assigned this yellow fever area because he had had the disease and was immune. | "Of, relating to, or having resistance to infection by a specific pathogen" is the definition of this word. | The term for a quarantine station. | This vital organ is affected when a person contracts yellow fever. | This insect is responsible for infecting humans. |